

Siam King's Abdication Reported by Secretary, Demands Were Rejected

"Supreme Arbiter of Ebb and Flow of Tides," Picturesque Ruler of Colorful Country, Makes No Statement.

HOPES FOR RECALL

"Possessor of the 24 Umbrellas," Kin of Great God Buddha, Demanded Trial by Court.

Cranleigh, Eng., March 1 (AP).—King Prajadhipok of Siam was announced by his private secretary today to have abdicated the throne.

The announcement of abdication of "the supreme arbiter of the ebb and flow of the tides" was made by M. R. Snakman, who has been here with his king on a "vacation" from troubled Siam.

The king's rejection of his throne follows months of internal disputes in Siam over governmental matters and repeated conferences in London with a delegation of countrymen who attempted to patch up the wide split between the monarch and his administration officials.

An official notification reaching King Prajadhipok from his capital, Bangkok, that parliament had bluntly rejected his conditions for retaining the throne was the final straw for the picturesque monarch.

Snakman announced: "The delegation realizes that this answer from Siam means abdication."

The king himself did not plan to issue any formal announcement of abdication, his secretary said, leaving that to the government officials at Bangkok.

Snakman explained: "His majesty feels it would be a breach of diplomatic courtesy, while in this country, to make any statement which might be construed as propaganda for himself."

The hint was dropped however that the king, who, among his other titles is "the descendant of the great god Buddha" and "the possessor of the twenty-four umbrellas," hoped in his heart that his people might some day call him back to the throne.

The Associated Press asked if King Prajadhipok planned to go to the United States as he originally had been scheduled to do.

"No," answered the secretary. "America is so far away and communication takes so long."

The king's household was uncertain but said they felt it probable his valuable property in Siam would be confiscated. The king also is expected to move to less pretentious quarters than the fine old English home he has been occupying.

Asked whether the king's finances would permit him to continue living in the present style, the secretary replied: "Of course not. His majesty cannot go on this way. He will have to move to smaller quarters."

The king's action brings his 11-year-old nephew, Prince Ananda, to the steps of the throne. The boy is the son of King Prajadhipok's late brother, Prince Mahidol, and is now in Lausanne with his mother.

Prince Mahidol, who died in 1929, lived in the United States a number of years, he was known there as "Mr. Songkral" and studied medicine at Harvard University. Later he lived in Boston.

Official Refusal
Bangkok, Siam, March 1 (AP).—King Prajadhipok, barring a last minute change of heart on the part of his home government, is expected to doff the royal Siamese crown within a few days, it was learned today.

The diminutive monarch who now is in England, has been officially informed of the Siamese parliament's refusal of his conditions outlined in last September's abdication ultimatum and has begun drafting the terms of his official notice that he is quitting the throne for good. It was learned.

Two of the most serious issues in the dispute are the monarch's demand for trial in an ordinary court of persons suspected of opposition to the government, instead of summary judgment in a secret trial, and his objections to provisions specifying that half of the members of the national assembly shall be nominated by the government.

Held for Espionage
Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 1 (AP).—Fritz Kamm, Nazi German student leader and two of his countrymen were held today by secret police for espionage charges.

The first arrested Kamm Wednesday. They identified him as the former president of the Nazi student organization. Later the police made a midnight search of the German students' headquarters and arrested the other two whose names were withheld. Authorities refused to give out many details and the supreme court forbade publication of the information because it is an espionage trial which still is pending.

It was learned, however, that no military persons were involved.

Discards Home Theory
London, March 1 (AP).—Scotland Yard today discarded the long theory regarding the human legs found last week in a train in Waterloo station, deciding they had a murder mystery to solve. An exhaustive check of hospitals, morgues, and medical schools showed that no bodies or parts of bodies were missing.

In addition to two good-sized brick buildings now on the property an addition will be built to meet the factory requirements of the new concern. It is understood that the factory will employ a dozen or more hands at the beginning of operations.

Lindbergh Case Third Anniversary Causes Much Speculation

New York, March 1 (AP).—Three years ago tonight Col. Charles A. Lindbergh shouted to his wife, "Anne, they've stolen our baby," and then, rifle in hand, dashed into the darkness to hunt the kidnapers.

Police of the world took up the search, spent a fortune—New York city alone expended an estimated $200,000—but until the arrest of Bruno Hauptmann last fall they could report only one outstanding discovery: The body of the baby.

Now, on the third anniversary of that fatal night, Hauptmann is in New Jersey's death house, convicted as the sole perpetrator of the kidnap killing.

Has the case been solved? Completely, says Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, the prosecution chief.

Absolutely not, say the defenders of Hauptmann.

In any event, the case still has some loose ends to be gathered up. Prosecutor Anthony J. Hancok of Hunterdon county, where Hauptmann was tried, hopes to knot a bunch of them. He will seek perjury indictments against four of Hauptmann's witnesses, he has said.

Much of the $50,000 ransom which Colonel Lindbergh paid in vain for the return of Charles, Jr., his first-born, has yet to be found.

The state believes most of it was spent before Hauptmann's arrest and the bills will continue to trickle in from innocent holders. Less than $15,000 was recovered from the carpenter.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, who as head of the New Jersey state police directed the kidnapping investigation, declined to say yesterday whether his men still were active. Lieutenant James Finn, who led the "Lindbergh squad" in New York, observed that, "so far as we are concerned, the case is closed."

"We will, of course," Finn said, "investigate any good clues that turn up, but since Hauptmann's arrest we have had none and have no good reason to look for any."

Relly in Hospital

Because he is a patient in the private pavilion section of the hospital, employees are not permitted to give information as to the nature of his ailment or its seriousness. Relly's sudden confinement came as a surprise to his law office associates, who said this morning that they did not know where Relly was and that they had not heard that he had entered a hospital.

Associated Press Foreign Staff.
Saarbruecken, Saar Basin Territory, Germany, March 1 (AP).—Adolf Hitler came to the Saar today and the population of the erstwhile League of Nations' territory went wild with adulation of the Reichsfuehrer.

This was the day when the Saar Basin territory, lopped off from Germany by the World War and for the last 15 years under the government of the League of Nations, went back to Germany sovereignty.

To celebrate the event, Hitler flew by airplane from Berlin to Mannheim, the last landing field before Saarbruecken, for the local airport was flooded by recent heavy rains. With him was Franz von Papen, former vice-chancellor and now minister to Austria.

Hitler Arrives.
Hitler arrived at the city limits at 12:50 p. m., ahead of him stretched streets covered with flags and bunting. The avenues ahead were lined with Nazi storm troopers, resplendent in fresh uniforms.

For 25 minutes he drove through the streets—streets vivid with color, deafening with the shouts of the populace, filled with cries of "Heil."

The arms of the stormers, the police, the aviation men, and the citizens, raised the Nazi salute, formed a veritable arch of humanity through which the former Austrian army corporal, now leader of Germany, passed in triumph.

The Saarlanders again are Germans.

Transfer Is Made
In the name of the League of Nations, which administered the productive area from the day the Treaty of Versailles became effective, Baron Pompey Alois of Italy formally transferred the territory to German sovereignty.

Wilhelm Frick, Nazi minister of the interior, accepted control over the Saar for the Reich and the mandate of the January 13 plebiscite was fulfilled.

The brief ceremony took place in the government building along the Saar river, while thousands of Saarlanders who voted overwhelmingly for reunion with Germany in preference to retention of the league's administration or annexation to France stood outside in a drizzling rain.

Few Witnesses.
Only a few high Nazi leaders and the three members of the League of Nations governing commission witnessed the formalities.

Simultaneously with the transfer, seven columns of Storm Troopers, each 1,000 strong, crossed the obliterated frontier which until today separated the Saar basin from its homeland.

Once the League of Nations' authority had been set aside, the German officials went immediately to Joseph Buerckel as "little dictator" of the valley.

The minister of the interior sent a thrill through the exultant German nation as he solemnly announced over the radio "Hoist the flags."

This was the prearranged signal for the Reich to begin its celebrations.

An Advance Toward Peace.
As Frick received the token of sovereignty from Baron Alois, he commented that the day marked an advancement in the cause of peace.

"Germany is solemnizing this day with pride and joy," he said. "But this is not only significant for Germany. For an end has been put to European policy which endangered the relations of two neighbor countries."

Frick thanked the league's governing commission for "its important and impartial role."

All through the night preceding the formal ceremonies, Saarlanders, their spirits undampened by the steady rain, paraded through the streets of Saarbruecken in enthusiastic celebration.

The night reached to shouts of victory and outbursts of song. All street corners became the focal points for seemingly innumerable brass bands.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,255,027,020.55; expenditures, $4,505,487,269.83 (including $2,244,855,717.12 of emergency expenditures); balance of war fund assets, $5,322,759,531.20.

Democratic Agreement On Reapportionment Being Forced by Lehman

Tammany Leader Dooling Reported to Have Fallen in Line With Loss of Seven Assembly Seats in Program.

NEW LIFE FOR G. O. P.

Harmony is Keynote of Executive Committee for State Revitalization of Republican Party.

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP).—Democratic agreement on a plan of long overdue legislative reapportionment in New York state appeared near today as Governor Herbert H. Lehman exerted his influence to bring recalcitrant majority party members into line.

Following a lengthy and heated discussion on the knotty problem at an executive mansion conference, Tammany Leader James J. Dooling was reported to have agreed to a loss of seven Assembly seats in the program which will be presented to the New York legislature early next week, probably Tuesday.

The final decision, however, rests with Tammany's individual legislative representatives, who previously said they would oppose any redistricting plan if their pleas for the same representation go unheeded.

New York county is due to have its representation reduced because of the growth in population of other Greater New York counties on the basis of the 1930 census.

Tammany's unwillingness to relinquish too many seats has been the main barrier to an agreement, with Tammany Leader Dooling fighting against a plan that would give that party 16 Assembly seats instead of the present 23.

It was understood, however, that after the conference yesterday he decided to withdraw his objections and leave the matter to the legislators themselves.

Meanwhile, the Republicans met here today to complete drafting a measure which they will use as a club to force a court test on the constitutionality of the Democratic program.

This is slated to be introduced simultaneously with the Democratic proposal next week.

Republican leaders have little hope that their plan will be approved in the Democratic houses, but have served notice they are ready for a fight, both in legislative halls and in the courts.

In addition to reapportionment, G. O. P. chieftains occupied themselves with getting a "rehabilitation" plan for the party underway at an organization meeting today of the newly appointed executive committee.

Republican New Life
Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP).—Harmony was the keynote today as the newly appointed executive committee laid the groundwork for a statewide "rehabilitation" drive by the Republican party.

Chase Melton, Jr., New York county leader who recently split with State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton over appointment of "Old Guard" wing members to the executive committee, took an active part in the meeting.

The break with Eaton was sealed after Melton's appointment to a high place in the councils of the group which now will work with the state committee in bolstering the party in the state.

The young New Yorker outlined a plan for continuing the strenuous publicity campaign started by the state organization as the first move toward winning back Republican ground taken over by the Democrats in recent elections.

The high spot of the meeting was expected to develop with the reading of a letter from Chairman Eaton in which he outlined the work he wants the executive committee to do. Eaton is in California on a vacation and Mrs. Robert L. Bacon, vice-chairman of the state committee, presided in his place.

Another feature was the presentation of a financial plan by Henry Root Stern, G. O. P. state treasurer. This plan will apply to county committees as well as the state organization.

After the reading of the Eaton letter and submission of the financial plan, committee members are scheduled to appoint sub-committees to carry on party rehabilitation work in all counties.

Six 'Baby Bonds' Bought By President Today In White House Ceremony

First Time Since World War That Government Has Made Plans to Sell Its Securities to the "Little Fellow."

MAY NOT BE RESOLD

Redeemable at Treasury or Local Post Offices After 60 Days From Date of Issue.

Washington, March 1 (AP).—Six "baby bonds" were purchased by President Roosevelt today in a White House ceremony that signaled a nation-wide offering to the "little fellow" of a new government security.

Postmaster General Farley made the sale with Secretary Morgenthau looking on. Throughout the land, 14,000 postoffices made available to the people the same opportunity to invest in federal bonds.

Mr. Roosevelt purchased a $25 bond for each of his five grandchildren and one of the same denomination for himself. They were the first sold of the initial offering.

The White House scene was arranged especially to start the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt inquired of the postmaster general and Secretary Morgenthau about the savings bonds.

"Suppose I want to cash my bond in a hurry?" he asked.

In case of emergency, Morgenthau said, "the government will redeem your bond at any time after 60 days from the date of issue. You can't be deprived of payment through loss, theft or destruction. The government always replaces them."

"Your name is written on the face of the bond when you buy it, and the United States Treasury will have a record of your ownership. It will even keep a bond for you if you request it."

"That sounds like a pretty good proposition to me," the President replied. "I want to buy right now six of the $25 bonds—one for each of my grandchildren and one for myself."

Mr. Roosevelt then paid $112.50, receiving 50 cents change for $113 he handed to Farley.

It is the first time since World War days that the government has made such arrangements to sell its securities to the "little fellow."

The "baby bonds," properly known as United States saving bonds, will be in denominations ranging from $25 to $1,000. Which size the President intended to buy was not made known, but the first bonds printed of all the denominations were laid aside for his selection.

The bonds were offered for sale on a discount basis, which means that the interest accumulation will be deducted from the purchase price, the bond being paid off on maturity at par. It held for the full ten years' maturity, they are graded to yield 2.5 per cent to the investor, compounded semi-annually.

The baby bonds may not be resold, but may be redeemed at the Treasury or at local postoffices any time after 60 days from the date of issue.

The value of the bond increases gradually toward its 10-year maturity figure. Each six months it will return the owner more upon redemption and the face of the bond lists these redemption figures at six-month intervals. No interest payments are made since the security is sold on a discount basis.

$2,100,000,000 Bonus Pre-Vote Hearings Ordered to Begin Monday

Former Justice Holmes' Condition is Unchanged

Washington, March 1 (AP).—Physicians attending Oliver Wendell Holmes reported after a noon visit today that the retired Supreme Court justice was "holding his own."

This word was given newsmen through Holmes' former secretary, Mark Howe. Finding the aged jurist's condition unchanged, Howe quoted the attending doctors as saying:

"The fact that he is holding his own is very encouraging."

"Mr. Holmes is conscious," Howe said, "and has not suffered at all since the beginning of his illness. He has had no visitors today, however. He is resting comfortably."

Howe announced that Dr. Lewis C. Ecker and Dr. Longcope of the Johns Hopkins Medical School faculty, Baltimore, had been called into consultation. Dr. Longcope visited the patient yesterday and Dr. Ecker saw him today.

The type of pneumonia from which Holmes is suffering was described as having no crisis. A day and a night nurse are in constant attendance at the bedside.

Howe said the doctors indicated they did not expect any immediate change in the justice's condition.

Mendieta Government May Be Supplanted By Semi-Parliament

Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.
Havana, March 1.—Mutual hostility to the regime of President Carlos Mendieta brought about consolidation today of three oppositionist parties pledged to a program for supplanting his administration with a "semi-parliamentary government."

The move was sponsored by the ABC, Autenticos and Menocal parties, frequently at loggerheads during Cuba's recently turbulent political history.

After agreeing to consolidate their interests, the three groups selected Dr. Jose A. Presno, former rector of Havana University and now dean of medicine, to head the new government, which they would set up in the event Mendieta should resign.

A spokesman for the merged organizations, explaining their objectives, said:

"Our program calls for a new government capable of rescuing civil authority, with absolute neutrality in the coming elections. There has been a complete agreement on our program between the ABC and the Autenticos with approval in general terms by the Menocal party."

The Menocal party is composed of the followers of former President Mario G. Menocal, one of the leaders of the opposition to former President Gerardo Machado.

The basis for the new government as outlined would be a junta of sectors which were active in the revolution against President Machado. The junta would organize the semi-parliamentary administration headed by a non-political president who would act as moderator in all problems except political matters.

The junta's only legislative powers would be the preparation of legislation and regulations essential for national elections. It would have no control over the President.

Colonel Fulencio Batista, whom the rumors of Mendieta's resignation named as successor to the president in the role of a military dictator, conferred through the night with army officials at Columbia.

Liquefied Oxygen Tests Conducted For Kiwanis-Rotary Clubs

Dr. Paul Saunders of Alfred University Gave a Number of Interesting Experiments Showing the Peculiar Properties of Oxygen When Liquefied, at Joint Meeting Here.

A number of interesting experiments showing the peculiar properties of oxygen when liquefied were conducted before a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs at the Governor Clinton Hotel by Dr. Paul C. Saunders, professor of chemistry at Alfred University Thursday noon, proving to be one of the most interesting Kiwanis programs conducted in some time. Music Director Paul Zucca also had a number of special items on his program including "The Three Jolly Paul" Bearers," a trio composed of himself, Paul Purcell and Edward Paul Ward, who rendered several selections of a humorous nature, much to the enjoyment of those present.

Prof. Saunders was introduced by Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., chairman of programs for February.

Among the experiments conducted were the freezing of rubber tubing, a rubber ball, strawberries, a freezing of an egg which was later "scrambled" by smashing it with a hammer, the freezing of mercury into a solid which was hard enough to drive a good-sized nail through a three-quarter inch board, the running of a small steam engine from the expansion and evaporation properties of the element, the inflating of a balloon due to the same properties, the blowing of a cork from the neck of a container due to expansion, the freezing of a gold fish, and numerous other small experiments.

Prof. Saunders also explained how the gas was liquefied and how it was possible to keep it for at least several days, although it was continuously returning to its state as a gas due to the high room temperatures compared to that of the gas when liquefied. Because of the extreme low temperature at which the gas becomes a liquid it is possible to boil liquid oxygen over a pan of ice water.

The uses commercially of the liquid were also discussed and included the supplying of pure oxygen to aviators at high altitudes, the freezing properties of the element, the use of the escaping oxygen in acetylene torches and other uses.

A large attendance was present to hear the speaker, after which Kiwanis President Morris Samuels expressed the thanks of the club for the experiments and adjournment was taken.

UNUSUAL BREAD OFFERED FOR FIRST TIME HERE.

Experiments in university clinics and food laboratories combined with practical baking skill has enabled the Williams Bakery to offer Prun-O-Wheat bread, containing the regenerative values of whole wheat and concentrated prune juice.

The Prune Growers Association of California has made possible the production of this loaf of bread, containing sufficient prune juice to make it regenerative in its effect, by recent production of their well known prune juice in a completely undiluted form. No medicines or secret processes are used, the product is natural in every respect. A nationally known food and cereal laboratory experimented for months with formulas and feeding tests, together with the preparation of the new baked wheat which when uncooked is similar in appearance to oatmeal.

The Williams Bakery is the first in the east to offer Prun-O-Wheat to the public. Inasmuch as the regenerative values are so unusual it is expected that there will be a wide interest, especially since it will find a definite need in modern diets.

The entire liquid content of the loaf is prune juice the values of which have long been known. Results of the Cowgill-Anderson tests given as part of the University of California project Number 521 indicate that the regenerative value of prune juice survives baking temperatures and is present in the new loaf, just the same as in the prune itself.

In addition to its dietary importance as a protective and corrective food, hitherto unknown except in the prune itself, the loaf has the rich nut-like flavor of whole wheat, blended with the fruity tang of the prune juice. A new process of milling the entire wheat berry called "baked wheat" having a softer texture due to a tenderizing process of rolling and fluffing is used in the revolutionary loaf.

Grocers throughout this district who will sell this bread have been enthusiastic in their reception and report that the product has been well received, especially by mothers who have used prune juice in the diets of their children.

Stone Ridge, Feb. 28.—The Rev. and Mrs. C. Van Tol went to Paterson, N. J., the beginning of the week to attend the funeral of Mr. Van Tol's grandfather. They returned on Tuesday afternoon.

On Thursday night of last week the members of the Men's Club met at the Reformed church. A very pleasing program was presented by the entertainment committee. John Davenport of Accord, presented several reels of moving pictures taken by himself while working on the Steamship President Monroe. A complete tour of the world beginning at New York, touching many of the important harbors and countries of the world, and a return to New York was depicted as Mr. Davenport himself described the pictures. The men feel themselves favored to take a trip so extensive though it may have been only in vision. After the entertainment refreshments were served and a few games of dart baseball were played. The next meeting of the club will take place on Thursday night, March 21. At that time the men will entertain the ladies.

The choir of the Reformed church will meet at the parsonage on Friday night at 8 o'clock for practice.

3 Million People Starving in China

Wuhu, Anhwei, China, March 1 (AP)—Three million inhabitants of Southern Anhwei Province, scattered over an area of 6,000 square miles, were reported today to be starving to death in the worst famine this section of China has experienced in recent memory.

Missionary advices received here said the death list already is appalling and growing day by day.

The famine is the result of the almost unprecedented drouth which extended over virtually all China last summer.

A harrowing description of the conditions prevailing in the southern section of the province was contained in a letter written by George Birch, China inland mission worker of New Westminster, British Columbia, to Dr. Robert Brown of Chicago, superintendent of the American Wuhu General Hospital.

Birch said budding crops have already been eaten rendering a continued famine certain. Children, he added, were being sold for one Mexican dollar each at one year of age.

Shell Supply Base Opens At Milton

New Waterfront Terminal, Under Supervision of Kingston Man, Replaces Railroad Receiving Points at Esopus and Newburgh.

The new terminal of the Shell Eastern Petroleum Products Inc., at Milton, which is to serve Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and areas surrounding these communities, opened for operations today under the supervision of Donald Swan of Kingston.

This new center of distribution for Shell products has been about five months under construction, having been started last October. It is situated on the old Townsend dock property, where barges can land with their cargoes for the Shell corporation. The terminal replaces the railroad terminals at Esopus and Newburgh.

The Milton terminal has six vertical tanks with a capacity for a million gallons of gasoline. Besides the motor fuel, the Shell concern will distribute from its new location the regular line of motor oils, kerosene and all grades of fuel oil.

Mr. Swan, who has charge of the territory to be covered by the new base of supply, has resided in Kingston about a year and a half. He came to this city from New York. His connection with the Shell firm extends over a period of three years. During his residence in Kingston Mr. Swan has made many friends through his business connections and also as a tennis player. He represented Kingston on the team that played against West Point at the military reservation last summer.

Mrs. Sewell Absolved Of Misconduct Act

Los Angeles, March 1 (AP)—Superior Judge Ben Lindsey, veteran arbitrator of many divorce battles, pored over thousands of words of testimony in the Emerson marital mix-up today, declaring he will not announce a decision until he has made a thorough study of the case.

With one phase of the purported "love quadrangle" among two socially prominent Beverly Hills couples already disposed of Judge Lindsey had to decide, first, on the counter divorce claims of Walter Emerson, actor-writer, and his pretty wife, Jane Scholtz Emerson. Involved in this part of the tangled case was Mrs. Emerson's demand for custody of the three Emerson children and $250 a month alimony.

Another angle of the case, which linked Emerson's charge that his wife was guilty of misconduct with Barton Sewell, wealthy Beverly Hills sportsman, was a $100,000 allegation of affections suit brought against Mrs. Emerson by Sewell's wife, Mrs. Leah Clamplitt Sewell.

Mrs. Sewell was absolved of all charges of actual misconduct by Judge Lindsey. He cited a portion of the testimony concerning an all-night beach party when Emerson and Sewell allegedly exchanged mates, and said:

"There was one decided indiscretion on Mrs. Sewell's part. I do not in any way condone or excuse that. However, with the facts presented, I feel convinced Mrs. Sewell was innocent of any actual misconduct, and so rule at this time."

Testimony of other principals had been that Mrs. Emerson occupied the same bed with Sewell on the night in question, and that Mrs. Sewell slept on a day bed in an adjoining room with Emerson.

Emerson, Mrs. Sewell testified, was asleep when she lay down, and still was asleep when she awoke the next morning.

'Big Hearted Herbert' Will Be Repeated

Tuesday evening, March 5, one of the most outstanding dramatic successes ever presented at the High School Auditorium, the Senior Class play of 1935, will be repeated. Popular demand is the cause for again bringing to the students of the school and the people of the city Sophie Kerr and Anna Steere Richardson's "Big Hearted Herbert." The play, a story of a self-made egotistical business man who, in the end, is shown the right way to act, will be under the direction of Miss Madeleine Tarrant.

The cast, which includes the same members that produced the dramatic success of February 15, is as follows:

Herbert Kalness . . . David Pennington

Elizabeth Kalness . . . Elizabeth Kalness

Shirley Silverman . . . Shirley Silverman

Robert Kalness . . . Earl Banks

Any Lawrence . . . Alice Barrow

Mr. Goodrich . . . Robert Chambers

With a drastic reduction in price and no seats to be reserved the auditorium is expected again to be filled with both those who have not seen the play and those who consider it worth seeing again.

GOVERNMENTAL POWERS

Governmental authority is jarred by the decision of a southern court that the TVA has no right to sell surplus electric power developed on the Tennessee river. This decision appears to jeopardize the whole Tennessee valley project and various big hydro-electric projects, old and new, in other parts of the country. Senator Norris remarks:

If the injunction stands it means that whenever it improves navigation in a stream by construction of a dam, no electric power can be generated unless all such power is used by the government, which in practical effect would be that in most instances the government would not build the dams because of the enormous expense involved.

Such a prohibition puzzles Canadians, whose government has produced and sold hydro-electric power without question for many years. It also puzzles Americans in our western states who have seen the United States government for a quarter of a century selling electric power from dams built primarily for irrigation. It even makes some citizens wonder how our federal and state governments were ever able constitutionally to sell and otherwise distribute their public lands, in competition with privately-owned land. We'll know more about it when the Supreme Court speaks.

EXPLORING THEN AND NOW.

The South Polar explorers are on their way home again. Lincoln Ellsworth recently reached the Canal Zone about the same time Byrd and his party reached New Zealand. The public is glad they have returned safely to civilization. Admiral Byrd himself expressed gratification that his second long sojourn in the Antarctic ice and snow had ended with no lives lost and no serious injury.

The success of these modern expeditions may be credited partly to good luck, partly to careful planning and partly to the modern equipment. Captain Innes-Taylor, in charge of the dog teams, expressed this idea while paying a tribute to Robert F. Scott's Antarctic party. He said: "I still am unable to understand how members of Scott's party succeeded in their expedition to the pole. Hauling sledges by man-power is to me the most amazing feat of physical stamina and human endurance ever accomplished." Our contemporary explorers had airplanes and tractors and other modern equipment to help them.

PERFECTION

What is "perfection" in character—assuming that there is anything approaching that? The question is suggested by the story of two young women who have been touring the country as evangelical singers. These two singers are 24 and 25 years old respectively. They are said to have "perfect" records because they have never been in a theatre, never danced, never seen a baseball or football game, never bobbed their hair, and never had a drink of wine. Say the sisters, "We have the old-fashioned hope of seeing no evil, hearing no evil. We don't think it should be old-fashioned."

It all sounds rather negative. A skeptical reader wants to know whether they've ever lost their tempers or played croquet or eaten too much cake or chosen their clothing with an eye to becomingness. Not that these things have much to do with perfection or imperfection, any more than the girl's own list of "never's."

DRIVERS' LICENSES.

Another state automobile association is urging before its legislature a law regulating every person who may drive a car at any time to be examined for a license.

While licensing drivers does not eliminate all accidents, it usually succeeds in reducing their number. The type of examination and the enforcement of the law are both important factors. Revoking a license is a useful penalty for careless driving. In the states having drivers' license laws, knowledge of traffic regulations is usually required of applicants, along with proof of driving ability.

The problem of automobile accidents is very far from solution, but the check on drivers provided by such a license law is a step in the right direction.

STOCK AND BOND EXHIBIT.

An unusual art display has been set up at the University of Rochester. It is a collection of stocks and bonds with a face value of $25,000,000 and an actual value of zero. Its purpose is to educate students in the high cost of gullibility and the wiles of "phony" stock salesmen.

Such an exhibit ought not to be allowed to give all stocks and bonds a bad reputation with the young people. It should be accompanied with teaching of the usefulness of good stocks and a few fundamental principles as to how to select them. People have joked about papering their homes with worthless stocks. Putting them on public exhibition seems a more useful moral and financial lesson for the young.

SPRAIN WORSE THAN BREAK

Your doctor will tell you that it is only too true that a sprain is worse than a break. The reason is very simple.

In a sprain all the tissues around the joint are torn or stretched—ligaments, tendons of muscles, blood vessels and nerves—but the bone or bones are not broken.

In a break the bone is broken partly or completely across and also the tissues in the region will be torn as in a sprain.

Why then is a sprain worse than a break?

The sprain is worse than the break because of the way it is treated.

In a break the broken ends are replaced in position under the X-ray, splints are applied, and nothing is allowed to disturb the splints until about three weeks afterwards. Even during these three weeks the X-ray may be used to make sure there has been no displacement of the ends of the bone. At the end of the three weeks, or even before, light massage is given the affected part to stimulate the circulation. In other words the break is considered a serious condition and receives prompt, thorough attention.

With a sprain, however, many patients actually try to "work out the sprain" by using the joint. Others will rest it for a couple of days until most of the swelling disappears, then they also will use the joint to "limber it up."

That means that the torn parts do not get the opportunity to heal properly owing to the movement of the joint too soon. The result is an ankle, wrist, elbow, shoulder or hip that seems to sprain, strain or tire easily "goes back on him," the patient says.

Now it must be admitted that some sprains are kept "quiet" too long with the result that "adhesions"—parts sticking together that should not do so—occur and a stiff joint results.

However, it has been found out that while the joint should be rested, stimulation of the circulation by heat or electricity brings along repair much more rapidly. Then at the end of a few days, instead of keeping the joint absolutely quiet, the patient or assistant quietly moves the joint without permitting any weight on it.

Thus a broken bone receives the correct attention and the sprain is apt to be neglected because it is not considered serious, yet the bad effects of this neglect may be permanent.

Montana Kid Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS.

Chapter 43 ACTION!

THEY worked with Juan-Silva silently, wiped the red from the lips of the dead man and drew him back in his chair so that his head was at a balance, supported against the high back of the chair.

"Now," said Montana, and he strode on past the fountain, to the door of that farther room out of which the voice of great-throated Estrada was making a steady rumbling.

Then he thrust the door open, and saw the general walking back and forth. The major and Jack Lascar were sprawling in chairs out of which they leaped at the sight of the Kid.

He smiled back at them, a very slow smile of a genuine amusement. "Juan-Silva wants to speak to General Estrada," said the Kid. "Juan-Silva wants to talk to the general alone—or with me present."

The general looked rather wildly about him. "Stay here!" urged Lascar through the twisting side of his mouth.

"Go, for God's sake!" said Major Alvarez. "Or are we to stay forever in this hell-hole?"

With a crown of military courage

Estrada strode straight for the door as one resolved.

"The general is coming," called the Kid, over his shoulder, and as Estrada crossed the threshold he quickly closed the door behind him.

Turning, he heard a soft beating in the air. That was all.

So they bore the general into the middle of the room.

By that time his two guns were in the hands of Montana, and the weight of the revolvers seemed to clothe the Kid with a new strength.

PERHAPS it was mere chance that made the friar deposit Estrada in the chair opposite to the death grin of Juan-Silva. But the sight of that hideous grimace turned the governor rigid.

He offered no resistance as the Kid tore his uniform coat open and reached inside it. There, in a soft coating of chamols, he felt the hardness of metal, and knew that his guess had been right. He gave one glance inside the leather and saw the green of the emeralds. That was enough. He flashed the gold and the green at Rubric and then dropped it into his pocket.

Brother Pascual and the outlaw, in the meantime, had bound the general to the chair he sat in.

Mateo Rubric, standing back from the bound and gagged general, folded his arms and they rose almost to his chin with the greatness of the breath he drew. But then, gradually relaxing, he was heard to mutter: "San Juan of Capistrano, keep my hands from him. Save this dog meat for the dogs!"

"Now—Mateo—now, Pascual—we have the other pair. Here we have guns. And there are only two. You first, Mateo."

Mateo looked at his friend sideways, with a grin wider than that of a snarling cat. Then he went to the door, with Montana at his heels, and threw it open. The long-stepping, Pascual was right behind them.

They went over the threshold with their guns before them, walking gingerly, as men must do unless they wish to disturb their aim.

There was not a word spoken. Then the two put their hands above their heads. To ask for mercy was a folly. They said nothing as the cords were fastened about their wrists. Then Pascual took them out of the room to the table where the dead man and the living prisoner already waited.

They were bound into chairs. "Search them, first—search every inch of them," said the Kid.

They searched, quickly, using the flat of the hand carefully to feel whatever lay in pockets. And that was how Pascual suddenly produced from Alvarez the gleaming green eye of the last emerald.

HE held it up. The Kid was already speaking. "We have one passport, and only one. That's the word of Juan-Silva. He'll never write again, and the best we can do is to take him with us. Pascual, take that scarf on the chair—wrap it around his skinny neck and see if that will keep his mouth closed."

The friar obeyed. And as he twisted the scarf's length strongly around the neck of Juan-Silva, the pressure of the upper layers of the cloth forced the jaws to close.

"I am going out into the patio, there, to be the coachman," said Montana. "There's no weight to

POLITICS at Random

SO MANY things are involved in the legislative stalemate at Washington that there is wide disagreement just where the responsibility lies.

The theory advanced by Mr. Roosevelt's political foes is that the balance of public opinion has turned against him at last, and that this will be the end of his domination over congress.

The President's friends ridicule that view. Many of them say resentment over patronage distribution and other purely administrative policies merely has resulted in a temporary revolt.

There are those who put much responsibility on organized labor whose leaders were offended by the automobile code settlement. The "prevailing wage" amendment, adoption of which stopped the progress of the work-relief bill, had labor's militant backing.

Still another idea speculated upon by politicians is that Mr. Roosevelt, who likes games, is just playing with congress; that he is quite willing to sit back and let the legislators quarrel and tear each other to pieces, believing that in due course they will demonstrate their inability to accomplish anything without his leadership.

It means that the whole theory of the recovery program up to date may be superseded by a new and different theory.

A change it would mean if congress should clip emergency spending to the bone, refuse to reenact those provisions of NRA about which there has been loud popular complaint, or do any or all of a dozen other things which have been proposed from various quarters.

Of course no one speaks of such a development except as a bare possibility. With Mr. Roosevelt holding the veto power, congress would have great difficulty, indeed, if it tried to take matters into its own hands. A series of compromises would be the natural expectation.

It may be that Washington will not have to wait long for the answer to a legislative puzzle which for the moment is baffling.

What the senate has done to the big work-relief bill is expected by politicians on all sides to prove a sort of trial balloon. When it is established definitely how the wind of popular favor is blowing, the situation will be much clearer.

POSSIBILITIES GALORE
 WHICHEVER of these premises may be correct, there is no dispute which of them is the most interesting. Any supposition that the President definitely has lost his grip on popular sentiment has the widest of possibilities should future events prove its soundness.

The legislative work of the session hardly can be said to have begun. Appropriation bills, carrying the routine provision for continuing the regular departments of the government, have had most of the attention thus far. Not a single one of the major administration measures has been written into law.

That means that if congress now definitely takes the ball away from the President, and takes it away in response to what it regards as a majority reaction against the Roosevelt policies, the most urgent questions of public policy will be settled in a manner which might turn out to be exactly opposite to the trend of the past two years.

United States is in a different situation insofar as cotton is concerned. Sixty per cent of the nation's cotton crop in the past has been exported whereas with wheat only a small part of the domestic production goes into the world market.

The Manchester Guardian in commenting on the decline of American cotton imports into the Liverpool market observed that it "has been due almost entirely to the scarcity and dearth of southern cotton, resulting from the large amount of cotton withheld against the Washington 12-cent loan to farmers."

"This policy of artificially raising the price of American cotton relative to other growths," the Guardian continued, "has encouraged local merchants and spinners to turn from American to cheaper outside cottons—particularly Brazilian and Indian descriptions."

Consumer Country Control
 AMERICAN students of the question are keenly aware of the fact that unless something is done it will be very difficult for this country's cotton to regain lost ground in the world market. They contend that supremacy bids fair to pass from American hands—from the control of the producing country to that of the consumer unless quick action is taken.

The President personally has displayed marked interest in the situation.

WASHINGTON—Apparently the long-awaited drive by the administration to attempt a rescue of the nation's export cotton market has gotten under way.

Oscar C. Johnston, general manager of the cotton producers' pool of AAA, presumably with the blessing of President Roosevelt, is off on a tour of Europe. He is expected to sound out opinion on price stabilization among foreign cotton producing nations.

Details of what he actually will do abroad are carefully guarded, but in view of the administration's known concern over the recent decline in cotton exports it is obvious he will do everything he can to bring about improvement in the situation of the American staple abroad.

Meanwhile, the idea of attempting to assemble the leading cotton-producing nations of the world in a conference to formulate a production control agreement is growing in favor. It is understood representations already have been made through diplomatic channels in an effort to determine if such a conference has a chance of success.

Talks to parents

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

THERE is a desire for uniformity among children which sometimes makes them adopt the most amazing conventions and styles if it is "the thing" among their friends and contemporaries.

Many of these conventions are harmless, however absurd they seem to others. Most of the fads in clothes, hair-dressing, slang expressions, are passing phases and discarded too quickly to become habits. The wise parent may smile inwardly at the odd fashions of speech and dress, but will make no comment. Comment must be reserved for more important details of current conversation, and these he can learn only by keeping the child's confidence.

Some of the class at school are telling dirty stories and spreading about indecent pictures. They laugh at their less sophisticated classmates and call them "stupid" or "precious innocents." Of course no one is going to stand for that kind of thing, and presently the whole group is trying to see who can go farthest.

If the parents have kept their child's confidence so that they are in touch with what is going on, this may be the first to interfere. Not with horror and anger, but with sympathy and understanding. Show the child how useless such stories are, and how those who tell them cheapen themselves. And above all, it is necessary for the parent to hold tightly to his sense of humor.

And it is only a phase of fashion, which will pass if the child is healthy minded and comes from a normal background. The child who has not heard dirty stories at home and come to consider them smart is not apt to enjoy them in school except for the short period of conformity required to prove itself "one of the bunch."

Visitors Demand 25,000 Bulletins

Ithaca, N. Y., March 1.—Evidence that farmers and homemakers go to Cornell's farm and home week to learn and not merely to listen and to be part of a crowd is seen in the interest and attention they give to the college bulletins, says the bulletin editor.

The mailing room in the college of agriculture reports that nearly 25,000 bulletins were taken during the week. Actual figures show that 2,670 bulletins were requested at the mailing room and 17,437 at the various lectures and exhibits elsewhere in the colleges. Most in demand were bulletins on farm engineering, flowers and plantings, and poultry.

Added to this, the mailing room reports that more than 10,000 service letters were taken by the visitors. These service letters deal briefly with various farm topics and, in general, are aimed to help the farmer to improve farm practices. Some letters tell how to repair farm machinery, some describe ways to improve crop production, some offer tips on marketing of farm products, and others deal with control of insects and diseases.

This, according to the mailing room, is by far the largest number of publications and printed matter ever given out during the 28 years of farm and home week at Cornell, and reflects the record-breaking attendance of 8,006 persons.

NORWAY WINNING RECOVERY BATTLE BUDGET INDICATES

Oslo (AP)—Norway, with a distinct improvement in national economy reported at the recent opening of the parliament, will continue to combat the depression in much the same manner as during the past year, with a budgeted appropriation of $10,000,000.

This amount will be used to aid prices and marketing in agriculture and fishing, help communities in the conversion of loans, provide loans at lower interest rates and, on relief projects, directly fight unemployment.

The proposed budget for the fiscal year 1935-36 is balanced at a total of about $100,000,000, or an increase of less than 4 per cent.

The national debt will be increased by $2,500,000 under the proposed new budget. A good increase in revenue is reported.

An increase of $162,000 in the appropriation for the army, to a total of $4,363,775, is proposed, while the naval appropriation will be raised by $194,500 to $2,875,000.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1604-B

Strictly Tailored Sports Frock

Smart women have taken to their hearts the tailored sports frock — that comfortable type of dress that is versatile enough to go from breakfast to market and on to a morning call, or a chat on the veranda of the country club.

The one pictured is a smart illustration of how very brief the new ones are. Their simplicity is their most interesting phase. This one features plain, dropped shoulders extending into cap sleeves. Darts insure ease over the busts. Patch pockets are amusingly made on the double of the material, and stitched to the skirt in the shape of a V, allowing the lower corners to flap loose and give an interest to the neckline.

Central closings are better than ever. Saucer buttons are used here — large bone ones keyed to match kerchief, bracelet and shoes.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1604-B is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measures 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires about 2 1/4 yards of 39 inch material; a purchased pearl.

Tomorrow: Morning frock for the matron.

PATTERN 5311

This quilt, Water Lily Applique, is one you can do quickly. And you'll have a piece of needlework that you'll be proud to show. There are only two applique patches in each block—the petals and marking on the leaves are done in outline stitch. Let the flower be a pink, yellow or peach color on a white background or make this colored and do the flower in white. You can outline it and the leaf in a darker shade of the color used or in black. The patches are simple in form, which means they're easy to apply.

In pattern 5311 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration of the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration of the entire quilt; three color schemes; step-by-step directions for making the quilt, and exact yardage requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

You can hear the swish of taffeta
in the dressier
modes for spring.
Liana Merwin

Black is an outstanding favorite for early spring in all types of dressy evening gowns, dinner frocks, bar and cocktail dresses. While laces and filmy chiffons are now much in favor for their sheer, drapery texture, taffetas are introduced importantly as another smart medium that produces a charmingly different silhouette.

These new frocks are especially effective in crisp, black taffeta and much stressed in ensemble themes with cape or jacket accompaniment, such as illustrated above.

This bar or cocktail frock of black taffeta has a hip-length, fitted jacket that is a dream for smartness, with its narrow lapels and long, fitted sleeves.

The top of the short-sleeved dress uses embroidered white organdie, which also fashions in fluffy self-tie at the high neckline. The buttons down the front of the bodice are self-covered and the taffeta belt uses two square rhinestone buckles at the front, as shown in the lower sketch.

The floor-length skirt is slim and straight to a point below the knees—then it flares out gracefully to a full hemline, with six set-in godets adding much additional "swish" to this taffeta costume.

TEN CHINESE DEATHS PAY FOR BUSH OF RICE

Huangkang, Hupeh, China (AP). A bush of a bush of rice to a family of famine-sufferers led to the death of ten persons here.

The rice was found to a school teacher by the wife of a neighbor. When the husband of the woman returned home and found what she had done he criticized her severely. She took his words so deeply to heart that she hanged herself.

On finding the body of his wife, the man was seized with remorse. He, also, took his own life by hanging.

The news of the double tragedy reached the ears of the school teacher who immediately accused his wife. To atone for his part in the tragedy, he swallowed poison and died.

The widow of the scholar, unable to face the future with her six children, mixed poison with the family rice. The entire family of seven was wiped out.

VETERAN RELIEVED OF CONSTIPATION BY NATURAL FOOD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects His Condition

Here is an interesting, unsolicited letter: "I have used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for about 4 years, and find it a wonderful relief for constipation." While in Government Service in the P. L. I contracted constipation in 1930-31.

"I consider your ALL-BRAN in terms of millions, instead of the cost of a box of pills, for it surely has saved me. I eat ALL-BRAN every morning." — F. L. Wylie, Visalia, Calif.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Tokyo Frowns On Alien Brides For Diplomats

By GLENN BABB

Tokyo (AP)—Marriages of Japanese diplomats to women of other races has been sternly discouraged by the government.

Kori Hirota, foreign minister, expressed the official doctrine recently in reply to a questioner in the House of Representatives.

"The foreign office will not in principle interfere in marriages contracted between our diplomats and foreign women, but we hold such alliances to be undesirable. They may cause suspicion to fall on officials whose duty it is to deal with state secrets."

Scotch Girl Started It

Such marriages became a matter of public discussion recently because of the romance of Toshio Katsube, a foreign service junior, and Miss Lillian Greene, daughter of a Scottish clergyman whom Katsube met while attached to the London embassy.

When news reached Tokyo of the intended marriage, opposition was aroused both in the foreign office and in Katsube's family.

The harassed diplomat hurried home, his bride-to-be following, to gain the consent of his mother and of the stern Hirota. There were months of indecision, with the newspapers following each movement of the unhappy couple, until at the last both Mother Katsube and Hirota relented.

There were weddings by both Christian and Shinto rites and the couple were glad to escape from Tokyo and its newspapers to the less inquisitive atmosphere of Bogota, where Katsube was sent. Such assignments, it should be added, was no indication of official favor.

High Envoys Handicapped

The opposition to mixed foreign service marriages has been pronounced in recent years.

Just now there are several diplomats with American or European wives who have risen to places just below ambassadorial rank, and there is speculation as to whether they will attain the highest prize of their service.

Saburo Kuruu, chief of the commercial bureau of the foreign office and former minister to Peru, is married to an American, Shigenori Togo, chief of the bureau of European affairs, has a German wife. The wife of Nobufumi Ito, minister to Poland, is French, as is the wife of Masayuki Yokoyama, consul-general at Geneva.

"SELF MEDICATION WITH DRUG LAXATIVES HARMFUL TO US"

Say Scientists

The habitual use of habit-forming drugs is deplored by medical men in all parts of the country. It has been pointed out that such drugs can be safely taken only upon the advice of a physician and as prescribed for definite cases. Self-medication frequently does more harm than good. Such natural food laxatives as flaked wheat and prune juice are recommended for proper elimination. These foods eaten regularly, actually tone up the system and avoid the necessity, in most cases, of using strong laxatives. PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD made with flaked wheat and concentrated prune juice acts naturally, safely and beneficially.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooled Off.

Chicago—That hot stove business is all cooled off now.

Frank and John Wisocki promised to take Stanley Adamski's hot stove back to him as soon as the fire goes out, and a charge of receiving stolen property was dismissed in court yesterday.

The Wisocki brothers hinted that kindly friends might have gone to Adamski's dwelling and removed the stove, but the judge indicated he didn't seem to believe the story. So he delivered a stern lecture and let it go at that.

No Bed of Roses.

Chicago—A trombone player's life is no snap. Recalling his own early trombone lessons, saying that playing the instrument sometimes made a man dizzy. Judge Desort in the Superior Court, decided to give Joe Lear a chance to pay up before taking any further action against him. Lear's wife, Lydia, complained Joe was behind in the $25 a week he promised to pay pending settlement of her divorce case.

Wuxtry, Big Rescue

Grove City, Pa.—Ice cutting operations on Barmore Lake were interrupted for some time while the men rescued the motive power.

"Mary Ann", the mare used in marking out ice for cutting, broke through into 20 feet of water. Twenty men with ropes and planks hauled her out.

More Liars Wanted.

Toulon, Ill.—There seems to be a demand for good liars. Twenty-five persons were enrolled yesterday in Toulon's newly organized Liars Club.

All the entrants professed to be amateurs, but all expressed hopes of becoming professionals.

Hard Work For Firemen

New York—It wasn't the heat of the fire, it was the work after the fire that made the firemen perspire.

An oil heater set fire to rags and papers in the fourth-floor apartment of Ida Welder, 41, and she was seriously burned. After extinguishing the blaze the firefighters carried down from the apartment 41 barrels of the rags and papers.

Saved From the Storm.

Weston, Conn.—Mrs. Charles E. Broch got two birds with one storm. During a recent snowfall, she opened the living room door and in flew a sparrow. A minute later, she opened the door again and in flew a wren. Both birds were placed in a cage and will be released when the snow melts.

Would Advertise New York Fruit

Albany, March 1 (Special)—Declaring that the fruit produced in New York state is the finest in the world, Senator John T. McCall, (D) of New York city, has introduced a bill for an appropriation of $50,000 to conduct an experimental advertising campaign for the sale of perishable fruits to determine the feasibility and practicability of establishing such activity as a permanent function of the government.

Senator McCall is chairman of the Perishable Fruit Commission. Commenting on his bill the senator said, "we propose to conduct an educational campaign so that the housewife will demand New York state fruits, and we propose the co-operation of growers, shippers, and merchants to have the first fruit removed to market at such times and in such quantities that it can readily be marketed."

"We also intend to experiment with the marketing of high grades of fruits under a state brand to guarantee its quality," Mr. McCall continued. "It is the belief of the commission that we will be able to build up a market for New York state perishable fruit that will encourage our farmers to grow a greater volume of high grade fruit."

The apple growing branch is one of the most advanced of all the fruits in this state, and is the second largest state farming enterprise, ranking second in the United States in annual production. To further substantiate his request for the appropriation the senator cited the exportation of apples to England each year, for the Hudson river valley is recognized as having some of the finest apples in the world.

Mr. McCall does not fear that asking for this appropriation will set any precedent, for the act in creating the aviation commission has already done this.

Cyprus Yields Ancient Tomb

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—A pre-Roman, 4th century B. C. tomb was found in the old town of Kyrenia by workmen lowering the floor of a tavern. An iron candelabrum, an alabaster lamp and several terra cotta funeral jars were recovered, perfectly preserved, and the tomb itself, of heavy masonry, also was intact.

In the vicinity of Monroe, La., an official survey shows, there are 1,090 gas wells with an open flow capacity of 1,246,579,000 cubic feet per day.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, March 1 (Special)—Back into the state capitol came the Republican leaders, this time for an "organization meeting," being held today at the Ten Eyck Hotel with lunch included. The newly created executive committee of the Republican state committee is to be presided over by Mrs. Robert L. Bacon, vice chairman, for the chairman, Melvin C. Eaton, is in California. Philip Elting, well-known Ulster county Republican leader, was elected to this executive committee early this month to be one of the two Representatives of the third judicial district.

Business of the meeting consists of mapping out future work, as outlined in a letter by Chairman Eaton, appointment of sub-committees, and approval of a projected plan of financing for the state committee and various county committees. Chase Mellen, Jr., New York county leader, is expected to present his views on a plan for future publicity. Since the patching up of his rift with Mr. Eaton he has been appointed to the post of public relations' chairman.

In preparation to launch a vigorous campaign to win back Republican control of the Assembly from counties that went Democratic last November, consideration is to be given to setting up a speakers' bureau within the state committee.

Assemblyman Irving M. Ives, minority leader, will attend the luncheon and is expected to outline the work of his party during the session this year.

Sniffles

The past week in the legislature had been looked upon as one that would carry with it passage of some of the more important bills yet to be enacted, but the lower house had to content itself with minor matters as the changes of weather brought so many colds and sore throats that the Democratic half, which is in its full strength three votes stronger than the Republican side, was badly crippled, and did not have enough votes to pass legislation that the minority was opposed to, and these items have been put over until next week. Assembly majority leader John F. Kilgrew, although in Albany, did not get to the sessions because of his cold, and the veteran Louis A. Cuvillier, noted for his lengthy speeches, occupied the Democratic whip's chair.

Evolution

"Evolution" has been defined by some scientists as a change, and does not necessarily mean progress. It can mean that, or it can mean retardation. The past month has been some definite changes in state laws. They have come from both parties, the Democratic one predominant. For the most part these changes have been for the betterment of the citizens of the state of New York. They include programs of spending for relief, for the farmer, for the work-lack man, and to aid various professions. Other attempts have failed; they will be tried again in time, and if they are sufficiently worth their salt they will be enacted even if it takes years for the attainment of the goal.

February victories include adoption of budget and increased taxes as recommended by the governor. Many matters are pending that are to be whipped into final form this month and will be passed in the closing days of the session. There is still considerable doubt about the date of adjournment, but talk has it that the final gavel should fall between March 15 and 22.

At The Theatres

PREVIEWED

Today

Broadway: "Society Doctor". Virginia Bruce, Chester Morris, Billy Burke and Robert Taylor work hard in this story which pits youth against old age in the constant battle against disease. It is the story of life as it is won and lost in the confines of a metropolitan hospital. It moves in interesting fashion through the routine of hospital life, dips into the lives of doctors, internes and nurses, has several moments of lively comedy and many minutes of real and gripping suspense, and one especially effective scene in the operating room. Directed by George B. Seitz, this play is interestingly done from every standpoint, with the exception of occasional moments of needless melodrama.

Orpheum: "Now and Forever" and "Rocky Rhodes". One of the older of the Shirley Temple offerings is the first feature, with Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in the main roles. It concerns a wanderer who falls in love with a little girl, played by Shirley Temple, and how it makes him discover the true values of life. The play is neat and expensively done. "Rocky Rhodes" is a Buck Jones thriller, a full length picture with an abundance of action.

Kingston: "Wings in the Dark". A spirited boost for aviation and its future possibilities through scientific advancement, comes to light in this melodrama that moves briskly through a series of exciting happenings with Myrna Loy and Cary Grant featured in the important roles. The story concerns an aviator, blind because of an unfortunate accident, and his effort to be of use in the world despite his handicap. He has perfected a blind flying device, and through the help of two friends he proves to the world how valuable they are to aviation. In true Hollywood style, the plot develops a happy landing. Others in the supporting cast include Roscoe Karns and Hobart Cavanaugh. James Flood directed the picture. Good entertainment.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "One More Spring." The wistful Janet Gaynor and the handsome, deep voiced Warner Baxter live the depression all over again in an extraordinary motion picture that clicks from the opening flicker. It's all about a couple of young people in the grip of failure and poverty, who battle gamely against the uneven forces rampant within a big city, and who smile when things go wrong, because they find enjoyment in the little things that come along to cheer them. It's all rather sad and hopeless, and at the conclusion, their dreams and hopes still seem far away, but Miss Gaynor and Mr. Baxter contribute a couple of hit performances, and the photography is exceptional. Roger Imhoff, Step-finch, Grant Mitchell, Walter King and Jane Darwell are also well cast. Grand entertainment, moving and real.

Orpheum: Same. Kingston: "Carnival." All the ballyhoo of carnival life, with its razzle-dazzle, its noise, dirt and bustling activity, is elaborately brought to the Kingston screen with James Cagney, Dorothy, Lee Tracy and Shirley Eilers in the stellar assignments. The story attempts to bring the audience a back stage glimpse of life as it is lived by those who exist within the confines of the carnival tents. With the aid of the capable Lee Tracy, the pretty Sally Eilers and a child player who seem destined to stardom, this show is passable entertainment. All those who enjoy the stupidities of Mr. Durante will find him at his noisier best.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS &amp; SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Moon-faced, moon-eyed Peter Lorre was the chief murderer in the German horror film, "M," which was his first picture. For nearly a year he did not make an other, because all the several offers he had were for duplications of the role in other films of the same type.

Peter Lorre, at 30, has been an actor for a decade. He did not want to end his career so briefly. Playing a few monsters, he considered, would kill him professionally in a few years. So he did not come to Hollywood until he was assured that his previous accomplishments on the stage would be considered in casting him. He will star first in "Crime and Punishment," and then there is a comedy role awaiting him.

A Change Of Face

"I have a need to act," Lorre explains, "and I must take care to make it possible that I keep on acting. Let them type me and I would be finished work. Acting, after all, is a daily business for a grown-up. Since I have the need to act—why, I don't know, it's something one can't explain—I want to move it at least interesting. If I must make faces, I find it less willy and more interesting to make different faces, not the same ones every time."

Lorre, born in Hungary, raised in Vienna, is five feet six and weighs 170, which makes him chunky and almost silly-go in appearance. His English is accented, but his command of the language good.

He was "on the stage," he says, before he ever had been inside a theater. His parents objected to the theater, but Peter, early determined to be an actor because of that "need to act," worked his own amateur group, it worked on an improvised stage, without audiences.

Interfered With Banking

Shortly Peter got a job as a bank clerk, but since he was often up till four in the morning with his actors he did not become a banker. He was fired. And then he went on the stage in earnest, making his way after routine disappointments to prominence.

Lorre was married in London, just before leaving for Hollywood, to Cecilia Lysenky, an actress. They live in a bungalow in Santa Monica, unpretentiously, on a moderate scale, and that is part of Peter's "versatility insurance."

For there is no independence, he argues, for an actor who lives up to a large salary.

"It once drives a big car and lives in the grand style," he says, "then he is in the story of others. He must play the roles he is told to play, or he will lose the features to which he has become accustomed. We live simply, drive a little car, have no fear of losing anything. So I am free to do as I please and picture I do not like."

Kills a Lynx

Saranac Lake, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Linda Denton of New Rochelle, is one of the few Adirondack residents to kill a Canadian lynx this year. The big-eared animal, rarely sighted in this region, was trapped in a woods near his home. Hoping to capture the animal alive, to preserve it, but it successfully to overpower it, but it finally was forced to send a bullet through its head when the lynx proved too ugly to handle.

Dust Storms Often Blanket Dry Belt

The map shows that section of the 1934 drought area where lack of moisture still is a vital issue. Even with spring rains the "1935 drought sector" will go into the growing season with uncertain prospects, federal weather officials say. The dust storm pictured below is typical of storms which have blanketed many sections of the drought area.

John B. Kennedy, noted radio commentator and editor of Colliers, has accepted the national chairmanship of the mobilization.

Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody in a recent statement expressed the purpose of the campaign in a few words. He said:

"The Mobilization for Catholic Action is to be an organized movement throughout the United States and Canada to arouse the present membership of the Knights of Columbus, as well as eligible non-members, to a keen sense of the pressing need for lay leadership in support of the ideals of Christian citizenship for which the Church and the Knights of Columbus stand."

"The movement will reinterpret the fundamental aims and purpose of the Knights of Columbus, with emphasis upon individual responsibility for active service in church and community affairs."

"It will attempt to alienate the Catholic manpower of the United States and Canada for concerted the effective protest against invasions of civil and religious liberty, such as the current persecution of Catholics in Mexico, and it will rally laymen for stronger support of Catholic education, social service and community welfare work."

"Insofar as the Knights of Columbus are concerned, there must be no such thing as passive membership. Every Catholic layman should ally himself with some definite work in behalf of his country, his church, his fellowman and the community in which he lives. Every eligible Catholic not affiliated with the Knights of Columbus should seek membership in this Order as the logical channel through which to make his individual contribution to the success of this general program."

Dr. C. H. Holleman To Visit Ulster Classis

Clarence H. Holleman, M. D., who has spent the last 15 years in China, will spend the week of March 3 to 10 in the Ulster Classis and will speak at various Reformed Churches throughout this district. Dr. Holleman's first appearance will be at the New Paltz Reformed Church on Sunday morning.

During the earlier years, Dr. Holleman was in charge of the Fagg Memorial Hospital at Leng-na, Fukien Province. In 1930 Leng-na was seized by Communists, and Dr. Holleman himself was taken prisoner. He spent some time with the Communist army, but was able to make his escape.

In later years Dr. Holleman has been in charge of the Hope & Wilhelm Hospital at Amoy. He has an unusual background of personal experiences in these troubled times in China and brings back to the churches an interesting message from his two terms of medical missionary service.

The following is his schedule for the week: Sunday, March 3, in the morning at the New Paltz Dutch Reformed; in the evening at the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord; Monday evening at 6 p. m., at a supper which is to be held at the Port Ewen Reformed Church, Port Ewen; Tuesday afternoon at a tea at the Saugerties Reformed Church, Saugerties; evening at the Woodstock Reformed Church, Woodstock; Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the North Marlbtown and the Hurley groups at the Hurley Reformed Church; Thursday at 7:30 p. m., at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston; Friday evening at the Bloomington Reformed Church, Bloomington; Sunday morning, 11 o'clock, at the Church of the Comforter, Kingston. In the evening at the Port Ewen Reformed Church at 7:30 o'clock, Port Ewen; and at a Young People's Forum at 9 p. m., the Y. M. C. A., Kingston. The public is cordially invited to come to any of these gatherings. There is no doubt that Dr. Holleman will have a very interesting story to tell.

P. Gore. "I'm out, but I am far from down," added Mrs. Waters, who was replaced a week ago as warden of the Granite Reformatory. "I'm just starting to do things."

Poiret, Ex-King Of Gowns, Plots Medicine Man Trip As Comeback From Dole

Paul Poiret, whose Paris dress-making salon used to be the throne room of the world of fashion, has been reduced to living on the French dole but now plans a fresh venture. In this photograph, posed exclusively for The Associated Press, the condition of the lining of his heavy velvet cape testifies to the strains through which he passed. The beard was acquired when hard times overtook him.

Paris, (AP)—Paul Poiret, "sick and tired of living on the dole," plans to make a dressmaking comeback with a campaign to re-educate French women in clothes.

The aging ex-king of the fashion world, whose downfall began seven years ago, has quit standing in line for his daily bread and asked by "The Society of the Friends of Paul Poiret," is cutting out new fashions in his modest apartment.

This time his top price for dresses will be $40. Once he received as high as $400, but he says that was before "the bandits and gangsters of the financial world ruined my business."

Like the old-time medicine man, Poiret plans to tour from town to town, lecturing on his product and then selling it. But instead of the conventional horse and buggy, he will ride in a shiny autobus with a staff of ten models.

He plans to cover France first, then England, then Switzerland and the rest of Europe. He even plans a selling-lecture tour in Northern Africa.

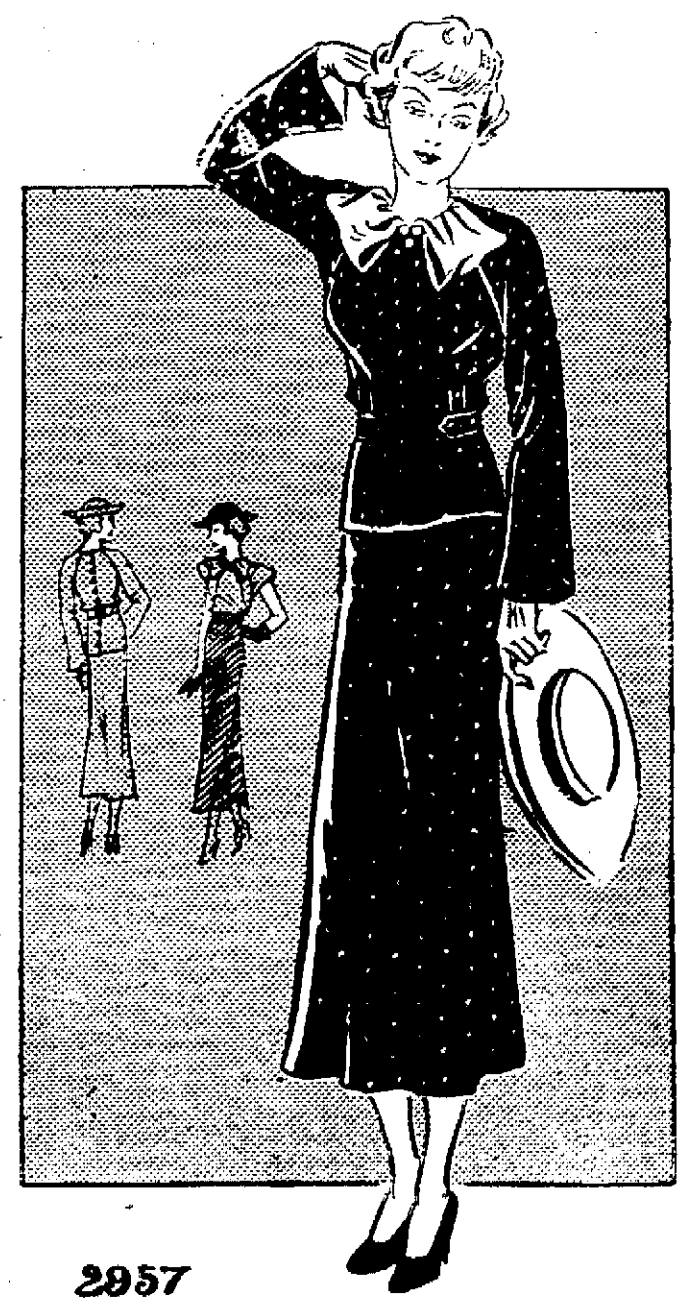

He won't attempt America, he says, for American women have nothing to learn from him.

Cream Increase Today

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—A state-wide 20 cent increase in the price paid producers for milk used in three classes of cream became effective today. Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck of the state department of agriculture and markets boosted the price last night from $1.55 to $1.75 a hundred pounds. He estimated it would increase the returns to producers approximately $204,000 this month. The milk involved represents about a quarter of the amount produced in the state and is used for fluid cream, for ice cream for New York city and for certain types of cream cheese.

Maines Held On Forgery Charge

Bernard Maines, home on parole from Dannemora state prison, was arrested this morning, shortly before noon, by Police Officer Fred Stoudt, for forgery in the third degree.

Maines was taken into custody on complaint of Emanuel Manos, proprietor of the Fairlawn store, 21 Broadway, who claims that the man gave him a bad check for the amount of $10.

According to Manos' story to the police, Maines visited his store Thursday afternoon, saying he had

WHERE GOOD FURNITURE COSTS LESS

What is so rare as a warm day in March and no wind? We'll answer that one. A cheerful companion who doesn't talk too much.

Collector (at door)—At this time of the year we provide a free dinner for the poor and needy.
Harrassed Householder—Thanks very much. I'll just get my hat and coat and come along at once.

Endurance! I've a date with my old sweetheart, my wife of ten weary years, she's joyful on the occasion, while I'm on the verge of tears. She said she'd be on the corner, the same old trysting place, the same old smile on her face; I'll try to meet her advances, though she's just a pain in the neck. It's always that way on pay day, for she's only spending my check.

A liberal is one who spends a conservative's money more liberally on experiments which, if successful, will be credited to the liberal, but the failure of which, if unsuccessful, will be blamed upon the conservative.

An English temperance lecturer was concluding his address. "Friends," he said, "I have lived here all my life. In this town there are 50 taverns, and I am proud to say I have never been in one of them."

From the back of the hall came the question: "And which one is that?"

Correct This Sentence: "They cooperate gratefully," said the college professor, "when we tell them how to run their business."

Employer (to applicant for job)—Can you write shorthand?
Applicant—Yes, sir—but it takes me longer.

Still, almost all good citizens favor law enforcement unless it threatens a friend.

The steeplechase jockey awoke to find himself bagged up in a hospital ward. He smiled up at the trainer who stood anxiously waiting at his bedside.

Jockey (wearily)—How did it happen? I thought I'd cleared that last fence easily.
Trainer—You did, but the trouble was the horse didn't.

One mother recently gave her daughter such a big wedding that it looked as if she was celebrating the capture of the groom.

Merchant—Is your wife still trying to keep up with the Smiths?
Friend Lawyer—Gosh no! The Smiths had triplets last week.

Famous Last Lines
He doesn't bite.
I didn't know it was loaded.
Boss, can I have a small raise?
Whose little itty witley is ooo?
But, Your Honor, I didn't know the light was red.

Hello, Honey, I'll be kept late at the office tonight.
Fresh? Why madam, those eggs were every one laid yesterday.

Honest, officer, just found the door open and walked in, see?
Got a match? I want to see how much gas I've got in my tank.

I assure you, sir, those shoes are absolutely guaranteed no to pinch.

Dentist—Have you seen any small boys ring my bell and run away?
Policeman—They weren't small boys—they were grown-ups.

This country will always have several million of unemployed, who are looking for work wherever they know they can't find it.

Dorothy—So they eloped and got married?
Eloise—And her mother—has she forgiven them?
Dorothy—I don't think so. She has gone to live with them.

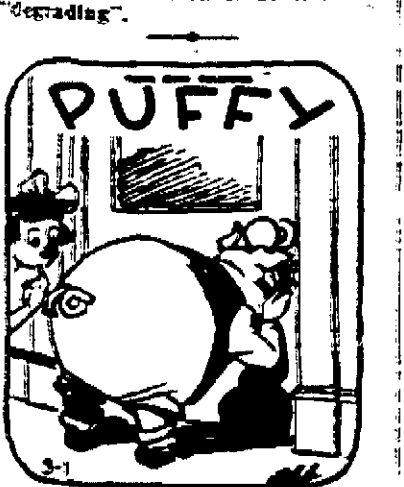

What this country needs most is a compass which does not wobble to the right or to the left but points steadily straight forward.

DANKS SWAP HERRINGS FOR AMERICANS MOTORS

Copenhagen (AP)—American automobile assembly shops here, faced with trade barriers as a result of unfavorable trade balances for Denmark, have obtained permission to swap automobile parts for herring. Fishermen in Greenland waters and picked for export to the United States.

This stone-age method of barter, necessitated by trade differences, is described in Danish trade circles as "degrading."

There's only one window, all covered with bars. But through it I feel the Midwestern sun. No more to the door, which is locked with a key.

"Please give me a hairpin," he says. "We'll get free."

GAS BUGGIES—The Acid Test.

BARBARA DIDN'T SEEM NORMAL AFTER HER MAMMOGRAPHY. SHE TOOK HER TEMPERATURE AND THEN PHONED YOU, DOCTOR.

WILL THE LITTLE LADY SHAKE HANDS? THAT'S THE GIRL—NOW LET'S SEE WHAT AILS YOU.

BARBARA'S A DANDY PATIENT NOW. SHE DOES EVERYTHING I ASK HER TO. QUITE A CHANGE FROM THE FUSS SHE USED TO KICK UP A COUPLE OF YEARS AGO.

I CAN SEE YOU'VE BEEN EDUCATING HER TO COOPERATE WITH THE DOCTOR. MORE PARENTS OUGHT TO DO THAT. IT WOULD SAVE THE PATIENT NEEDLESS UPSET.

I ALWAYS TELL HER BEFOREHAND WHAT YOU ARE GOING TO DO.

IF ALL PARENTS WOULD DO THAT THEIR CHILDREN WOULD PROFIT BY IT.

WELL, I HEAR HER PACING THE HALL. I'D BETTER GO OUT AND REPORT.

She'll be so happy to know about Thrifty Service—the new home washing service—that many women find is even cheaper than doing the washing at home.

From here on •• read this out loud for your wife to hear

If there's one day in the week every woman dreads, it's washday. If there's one thing she hates to do, it's the washing. No wonder. It's so fun climbing around in a damp, chilly basement... wringing with heavy, dripping clothes... hanging, hanging them up. It's dangerous, too. (Many a cold gets a good start that way.) You wince over it to your husband, your children, yourself to stop taking chances with your health—stop wearing yourself out over the family wash.

Make up your mind right now that you're going to put washday out of your life, and out of the home, forever. This week... and every week... simply bundle up your clothes and send them to the laundry. We will wash your clothes in rich, sunny suds—rinse them in gallons of sparkling, rain-soft water, then send them back to you, ready with the flat work ironed. And for this wonderful service (and your whole day of leisure) you pay only 98 cents for a 14-pound bundle. Which is one of the best bargains that has come your way in a long time!

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, March 1 (AP)—Definite trends were still lacking in today's financial markets and securities and staples, generally, backed and filled listlessly.

A few metals and scattered specialties accounted for what little life stocks exhibited. Here and there substantial gains were recorded. There were many losers, however, and the trading volume, even smaller than in yesterday's dull session, further darkened the outlook for the commission houses. Stimulating news was scarce and buyers and sellers unusually timid.

Shares of U. S. Smelting, Howe Sound, Cerro de Pasco and American Smelting, apparently reflecting high silver prices, got up 1 to 2 points. Coca-Cola advanced 4, Columbia Pictures Certificates recovered 2, and Improvement was shown for International Business Machines, Glidden, Great Western Sugar, Cuban-American Sugar, American Commercial Alcohol, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and American Can. Canada Dry dropped more than a point, and U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, Johnsonville, Consolidated Gas and numerous others were about unchanged to fractionally lower.

Second Carload of Tractors
Harrison S. Ford, well-known McComb-Johnson farm machinery dealer of Hurley, who recently received a carload of Farmalls, W-32 and T-24 tractors, reports that business is very good. Mr. Ford is now waiting for his second carload of farm tractors and implements to arrive.

Queen Elizabeth Musical; Could Play the Virginal

The word harpsichord was invented because it was seen that the instrument had a harp-like shape, and when a keyboard was added chords could be struck on it. Virginals, spinets, and clavichords are all like the early harpsichords, the difference being in the way the string is plucked, whether by a quill or wedges of brass.

Queen Elizabeth played the virginal well, and in her day set musical fashions. Instrumental-makers and composers were very busy in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries making better instruments and writing music for them. Later harpsichords had a device for opening and shutting the lid to increase or decrease the sound, and there was a separate keyboard with single strings to make soft sounds. All Eighteenth-century orchestras had a harpsichord, played generally by the conductor.

By the Nineteenth century the piano had arrived, for people wanted more light and shade in music, and the harpsichord could not produce it. Curiously enough, a Spaniard wrote the best early harpsichord music, Domenico Scarlatti, whose music sounds fresh even today.—Montreal Herald.

Color, Luster, Shape, Determine Pearl's Value

Four factors determine the value of a pearl—color, luster, shape and size, according to an authority in the Washington Star. While many kinds of oysters make pearls, the kind in demand are a few only, made by mollusks possessing a special type of shell with an inner lining of mother-of-pearl—that is, a lining with a fine iridescence. This same iridescence is imparted to the pearl, giving it the rare beauty desired in gems.

While pearl colors are largely a matter of individual taste, most people seem to prefer the white stones. But to the true expert the pink pearl of a fine delicate tint is most desirable. Golden yellows and greenish blacks are also highly prized by connoisseurs. The technical term for the characteristic pearl luster is "orient." This exists in various intermediate stages between dull and bright. If a pearl has the finest orient—that is, an unusually brilliant one—it might be worth many times the value of the same-sized pearl with inferior luster. Large-sized pearls of exceptional quality are exceedingly rare. Generally speaking, the most desirable shape is a perfectly spherical pearl.

Tulip, the Wonder Flower

For centuries the tulip has been looked upon as a wonder flower in many countries, but it has long been associated especially with the famous tulip fields of Holland. It has often been called "the flower that set a nation mad" because of the craze for these gay but simple blossoms which began in the Netherlands in 1581 and reached its highest point in 1637. During this period, when only two bulbs of the September Augustus were to be had, one was purchased for 4,000 florins, a new carriage, two horses and a complete set of harness, while the other was sold for 12 acres of land. This tulip mania reached such proportions that hundreds of families had become impoverished and the government was forced to interfere and put an end to the gambling in tulip bulbs.

Animal Ecology

In a general way animal ecology is a science which seeks to give some definite form to the vast number of observations which have been accumulated during the last few hundred years by field naturalists and various other people interested in wild animals. Ecology is concerned with reducing and co-ordinating vast available information concerning habits, life histories, and numbers of the different animals, with a view to solving some of the urgent practical problems arising as a result of man's becoming civilized and interfering with the animal and plant life around him.

Lichens of Importance

Several species of lichens are of economic importance, yielding dyes and foodstuffs. Iceland moss is edible, yielding a nutritious jelly. Reindeer moss is the principal food of the Lapland reindeer in the winter. Archil, a violet dye, is obtained from Roccella tinctoria, Roccella fuciformis, and Lecanora tartarea. Litmus, also a dyestuff, is obtained from these lichens by exposure to the air in the presence of ammonia, potassium carbonate, etc.

Whalebone Serves as Tooth

Whalebone (its true name being baleen) is the curious stuff that grows in place of teeth in the upper jaw of whales, writes Jeanette Miralay in "To the North." Baleen acts as a sieve, strains the many barrels of water gulped down by the whale as with wide open mouth it grazes the surface of the water, protects it from swallowing anything but the myriads of small mollusks on which it lives.

BUILD 1,000 HOMES DAILY IN BRITAIN

835 Millions Given in Subsidies Since War.

London.—Great Britain is building houses at the rate of more than 300,000 annually, 1,000 every working day of the year, and doing it mostly through private enterprise. Nearly two and a half million dwellings have been erected since 1919, approximately half of them by private enterprise, the remainder with the aid of generous national and local government subsidies.

Since the war British taxpayers have contributed £167,000,000 ($835,000,000) toward housing subsidies, approximately £140 ($700) for every subsidized house built. This year's national exchequer contribution toward old housing subsidies exceeds £13,000,000 ($65,000,000).

The national government repealed all housing subsidies instituted by previous governments, with the exception of one dealing with slum clearance. But most of the original subsidies run for either twenty or forty years from their inception, so the taxpayer will continue to pay for them for years to come.

It is estimated that England and Wales need at least 5,000,000 new houses by 1951 to insure that none of the population is housed more densely than three persons to two rooms and that old and out-of-date houses are replaced at a reasonable rate.

Inaugurates Threefold Policy.

To meet the need the national government has a threefold policy. 1. Reliance upon private enterprise for the supply of houses for the middle classes and higher paid working classes. Where necessary the government partially guarantees building societies against loss if they advance up to 90 per cent of the necessary capital to a builder.

2. Slum clearance and the provision of adequate accommodation for those displaced through the demolition of slum dwellings. Municipal authorities are made responsible for slum clearance, aided by an exchequer subsidy for the provision of new accommodations.

3. Elimination of overcrowding, a step ahead of slum clearance, also to be accomplished by municipal authorities with the aid of government subsidies. The government's overcrowding bill is now before parliament.

Private Enterprise.

Private enterprise has come into its own with a vengeance during the last year and a half. Of the 200,000 houses erected during the 12 months ended September 30, 1934, all except approximately 30,000 were built without subsidy, surpassing all previous building efforts.

During the second six months of that period the total number of dwellings completed was 136,463, of which all except approximately 20,000 were built by private enterprise.

Of the 20,000 subsidized houses built, only 9,357 were under the slum clearance scheme, just now getting into full swing. The remainder were built under the old subsidy scheme, now repealed. Eventually the only subsidized houses built will be those to house present slum dwellers and those constructed to relieve overcrowding.

Pasamaquoddy Indians

Washington.—Although they have taken up the culture of the whites with whom they have associated for generations, the Pasamaquoddy Indians of the Maine coast have preserved their aboriginal language in almost pure form. Dr. Truman Michelson, Smithsonian Institution ethnologist, reported.

Doctor Michelson, a specialist in Algonquian language, found the Indians living on a state reservation and nearly all speaking English but also able to talk the intricate tonal elements of the Algonquian dialect. He said the Pasamaquoddy tribe a few miles away had lost its old tongue and that usually the impact of an outside civilization meant death to the native language.

Ancient Wooden Bridge

West Seneca, N. Y.—The last covered wooden bridge in Erie county must make way for progress. The seventy-year-old Lerdecker bridge, which was built in this township in 1864 and since has sheltered many horse-and-buggy sweethearts, is to be replaced by a modern span under a county highway project.

The obsolete bridge, 170 feet long, spans the Chautauque creek in the fertile West Seneca valley. A recent years it has been practically useless, but old warning signs still carried the threat of a fine for persons who drove horses on it faster than a walk. There is no threat, however, to speeding motorists.

Moses to Fight Ickes By Sticking to Post

New York, March 1 (AP)—Robert Moses, whose removal from the Tri-Borough Bridge Authority is sought by Secretary Ickes, plans to stick to his post in the belief that the PWA administrator's policy will meet defeat.

Ickes has refused to allot any more funds to the Tri-Borough Bridge, New York's greatest PWA project, on the ground that Moses cannot rightfully serve both as a member of the bridge authority and as the city's park commissioner.

"I don't know what led the federal government into this," said Moses in an address last night. "But I do know this, and my authority for it is Mayor La Guardia: "

"Within 10 days after I became a member of the Tri-Borough Bridge Authority Secretary Ickes said to the mayor, 'Out of 7,000,000 people in New York city couldn't you find anybody more friendly to the federal administration than Bob Moses?'"

This, Moses declared, was long before he had any idea of becoming Republican candidate for governor, "so my running for governor couldn't have had anything to do with it."

"The situation probably can be summed up this way," said the park commissioner. "Ickes has the power because he has the money. It doesn't matter to him that it is the people's money, and not his."

Moses spoke before the Hundred Year Association, representing firms in business at least a century, which awarded him its annual medal as the one who had "done the most for the city and industrial development of the city."

Mayor La Guardia voiced little encouragement at city hall over Al Smith's defense of Moses Wednesday. "That's just another case of enlisting after November 11," said the mayor.

The Norfolk, Va., chapter of the Black Legion League is campaigning actively against the rapid diminishing of water fowl in that section.

American Language And Lineage Joined To Royal Spanish Family

Good American stock, brought into the royal family of Spain by the recent marriage of Princess Beatriz (extreme left) to Prince Torlonia, son of a New York woman, will be reinforced when Mile. de Dampierre, granddaughter of the former Josephine Curtis of Boston, weds Don Jaime (extreme right), second son of ex-King Alfonso. Both couples found English handy in developing their romances.

By STEWART FRENCH

Rome (AP)—Cupid, when he whisks in the ears of the royal family of Spain these days, apparently not only speaks English, but speaks it with an American accent.

For both the recent marriage of King Alfonso's eldest daughter, Infanta Beatriz, and the forthcoming nuptials of his second son, Don Jaime, bring persons of direct American lineage into the royal family.

Prince Torlonia, tall young husband of the Infanta and son of the former Elsie Moore of New York, is a former American schoolboy athlete. He played football and rowed on the crew at Pomfret School, in Connecticut.

Mademoiselle de Dampierre, bride-to-be of the king's son, has an illustrious American ancestry. Granddaughter of the former Josephine Curtis of Boston, now the Princessa Foggia Suasa, her family tree goes back to a Connecticut "deputy" of 1622.

Among the figures of American history in it are General Aquila, Giles, aide-de-camp of George Washington, and William Tecumseh Sherman of the Civil War.

With these decidedly American backgrounds, both Prince Torlonia and Mademoiselle de Dampierre speak English as a native tongue.

Torlonia, in fact, talks American slang.

Mile. de Dampierre, her American grandmother and her mother, Donna Vittoria Ruspoli, use English among themselves.

Prince Jaime was born stone deaf. He "reads lips," however, in three languages, Spanish, French, and English, and speaks all three after a fashion.

TILLSON

Jeese Keator and wife, and daughter, Mae, called on the Thurstons, at Kingston, Sunday afternoon.

Edward H. Demarest attended the dinner of the Men's Club of the First Reformed Church on the night of Washington's Birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Emerick and Mrs. Harold Teesell and daughter, Barbara, spent Wednesday with the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Emerick.

Betty Tompkins spent Saturday with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dunn.

Miss Gertrude Burhans was the guest of Mrs. E. H. Demarest on Washington's Birthday.

Mrs. Van Deusen is sick.

Miss Beatrice Terwilliger is staying at the home of her grandmother while Mrs. Terwilliger's son is spending some weeks with his wife in Florida.

Mrs. George Kennedy has not been well and has gone to the Kingston Hospital.

Quarterly meeting of this district was held in the Friends Church last Saturday. About 40 were present from Milton, Clintondale and Tillson. The Rev. Mr. Branson preached the sermon. At noon a very nice lunch was served by the Tillson ladies. The afternoon session was a business meeting.

The 4-H Clubs of Tillson had Parents' Night, Wednesday. The meeting was held in the church hall. A play was given by the members. After an address by Bernard Joy refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Walter Raleigh at Guiana

The coast of Guiana was first visited in 1499 and 1500 by Ojeda, Vespucci and Pinzon. The Spaniards planted a few settlements in the region, none of which seem to have had any long existence. Missionaries visited the interior during the sixteenth century. Sir Walter Raleigh, however, first made the name of Guiana widely known when he began his search for El Dorado, in 1595. He described the city of El Dorado as on an island in Parima lake, in Guiana, and it was placed on the map.

For two centuries he confined his explorations almost entirely to the river, although the sailing masters in 1594 and succeeding years carefully explored the coast to the east.

MORE TOURISTS NOW TAKE CARS ABROAD

"Ferrying" of Autos Increases
22 1/2 Per Cent.

Washington.—Prosperity is returning—at least to American tourists.

The foreign travel division of the American Automobile association has reported that 22 1/2 per cent more cars were shipped abroad in the ten-month period from January 1 to October 31 than in the corresponding period of 1933.

Likewise travelers from 42 states had their cars "ferried" across the ocean to 32 ports in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Political uncertainties or currency fluctuations apparently interfered not in the least with the pleasure and comfort of motor travel abroad in 1934. Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president of the association, said. Facilities and ease of motor travel were more favorable than ever before, he added.

Most American cars shipped abroad were light-weight and low-priced, indicating a desire to economize on gas and oil. The average duration of tours this year was 60 days, compared with 80 days in former years.

Reduced cost of transportation, coupled with more efficient handling of automobiles by steamship companies, the association said, made up for the increased cost of gasoline and oil in foreign countries.

Old People Thrive in Small Missouri Town

Oregon, Mo.—People grow old in this town of only 200. There are more than 50 persons whose ages range from eighty to one hundred and two. Almost without exception they go about their business without assistance from anyone. Some drive their own cars, set out orchards, split wood, bake bread, can, quilt, go to church regularly and do a thousand and one things that younger persons do.

Then there is a younger generation, youngsters of sixty to eighty, who bid to uphold the reputation of the town for longevity. One of these, a woman of seventy-five, recently learned to use a typewriter so that she could correspond more easily with a son in New York.

The oldest of the village is Mrs. Mariah Whitmer, who will be one hundred and two years old in May. Next is Charles Rulley, ninety-five.

Rev. T. D. Roberts and his wife have been married for 63 years. On his ninetieth birthday he preached a long sermon. His wife is ninety.

Several of the group are Civil war veterans.

New Device Magnifies Sound Ten Trillion Times

New York.—The purr of a cat in New York could be heard in San Francisco without aid of telephone or radio by means of a new sound amplifying device being demonstrated at New York university laboratories.

This claim was made by its inventors, Dr. E. E. Free and Carl A. Johnson, after Doctor Free used the device to bring to his students a sound never before heard by human ear—that made by a boll weevil eating itself out of house and home in a single grain of wheat.

The sound of the weevil was magnified ten thousand million times, which is round numbers looks like this—10,000,000,000,000. Such magnification of New York's traffic noises, Doctor Free said, would be loud enough to go around the earth ten times.

Shortage of Keg Seats Aids Sales of Tobacco

Paintsville, Ky.—Dennie Pigg of the Daviport section has a formula for increasing sales. He sets out a circle of empty nail kegs around the store in his store, but takes care not to put out enough to accommodate all the loafers and potential customers. Then Dennie takes one of the kegs and sits down.

Pretty soon some fellow will get so tired of standing there he will say, "Dennie, give me a nickel's worth of tobacco." So Dennie gets up to wait on him and the customer plops down on Dennie's keg. But just as soon as Dennie gets a chance he sits on another keg to wait for somebody to get tired.

Peasut Crop Nears Record

Norfolk.—Peasut production in the United States for 1934 was 1,053,000, 000 pounds—the highest on record except in 1931—it was reported here. The 1931 crop totaled 1,533,900,000 pounds.

Lowly Mule Stages

Comeback in Texas

Fort Worth, Texas.—The lowly mule, brought into the spotlight by the agricultural depression which caused thousands of farmers to turn to work stock instead of mechanized equipment, continues to hold its own. This is considered remarkable in view of the bad growth in this state and the soaring prices on feed, which also is scarce even at the high price.

Trading in mules in a recent week here was the largest in this great market in 12 years, reliable reports showing that there was a run of 2,270 mules, the largest for more than a decade. Prices were steady, particularly on aged animals. Traders were present from all southern states.

Clinton Ave. Church To Burn $500 Note

Next Sunday morning will mark another advance for Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church when during the worship services a recaptured $500 note will be burned.

About eight years ago it was found necessary to borrow $600 to balance the current expense budget. While the church has been able to meet all its other obligations through the years, it has seemed impossible to reduce this note by more than $100.

Now, however, under the leadership of the Rev. Howard Dixon McGrath, the present pastor of the Clinton Avenue Church, with the loyal cooperation of the finance committee, the church is having its happiest financial experience in several years. In a quiet way sufficient money has been raised to completely liquidate this note, and furthermore all other obligations are being kept paid up to date.

The fiscal year of Clinton Avenue Church closes on March 31 and it is anticipated that, because of the splendid loyalty of the people of this congregation, the year will be closed with a balanced budget and prospects for even a better year ahead.

Not only the members but many friends of the church will be present on Sunday morning when the note is burned.

The British Institution of Electrical Engineers has awarded the Faraday medal to Dr. F. B. Jewett of New York.

Measuring Solar Radiation
Measuring solar radiation is highly intricate work. Often six hours are spent in taking observations with the pyrheliometer, bolometer and pyranometer and then another six hours are required in computing the results of these observations, the figures having to be corrected for depth of atmosphere, ozone, moisture, dust, and the absorption in the mirror reflection, in the prism and in the black strips in the instruments.—Collier's Weekly.

Heart Beat Ordinarily Regular
The heart beat, under normal conditions, is remarkably regular and similar in all human beings. In adult life it beats a little oftener than once a second—72 times a minute. It is a little faster in childhood and a little slower in old people. The hearts of different animals also contract at a given rate for nearly every species. The larger the animal, the more likely is the heart beat to be slow.

Kingston Legionnaires Defeat St. Peter's Alumni In Close Game

Last evening at Poughkeepsie, the Legionnaires eked out a win over the St. Peter's Alumni quintet by three points. The final count was 31-28. Their victory was the result of expert foul shooting. The locals were outscored from the field by 10-8 but held the upper hand at tossing in the free throws.

Carl Husta was playing in the forward court with Hank Kurtyka and led the scorers with two fields and seven fouls. Kurtyka followed him closely with four fields and two fouls. McAuley, left guard for the Alumni, starred for the losers with 12 points.

Soon after the opening lap, the Saints jumped into the lead and the count stood at 5-0 before the Legionnaires were able to drop one in. The locals rallied, however, and were leading 3-5 at the end of the first period. St. Peter's then took command and were in front 15-13 at rest time. With three minutes left to play in the final period the score was tied at 27 all. Shimek and Husta then counted with two fouls apiece and put the locals out in front, 31-28. The game was played under the amateur rules which proved somewhat of a handicap for the Kingston team.

K. H. S. Will Meet Newburgh Tonight

This evening in the Kingston High gym, the Maroon varsity will play Newburgh Free Academy in a game called for 8 o'clock. This contest will be the last game of the season for Kingston.

The Klasmen are expected to wind up their season with a win, as the Hilly city team has had anything but a successful season. In the DUSO campaign the Shamens won only two games and lost four, while Kingston won all but one. Outside of the regular DUSO contests neither team has been very successful. As the game is being played on the Kingston court, a local victory seems all the more certain.

Kingston will use her regular lineup of the Bock brothers in the forward berth, Linden at center and Hall and Glenn in the backcourt. Due to different combinations that Coach Shaw has used to bring victory to Newburgh, the downriver school's lineup is indefinite. There will be a prelin at 7 o'clock featuring the Jayvees and the Columbians.

CLINTON AVENUE ACES TO PLAY KASCHIK QUINTET

In the feature basketball attraction at Epworth Hall tomorrow night the Clinton Avenue Aces will tangle with the Kaschik A. C. five. The A. C. team is composed of Yellow Jacket football players and it is expected that they will furnish the Aces some stiff opposition. The Clinton Avenue boys will line up with Teetsel and Roosa, forwards; Every, center, and Haines, Hyatt and Boyce in the back court.

The main game will start at 8:30 and there will be a prelin at 7:30 between the Clinton Avenue Juniors and the Woodstock Artists.

BASEBALL OPENS UP SHOP IN THE SOUTH

Sammy Fuller Fights Lou Ambers Tonight

New York, March 1 (AP).—Stubby Sammy Fuller, an old war-horse as fighters go, tackles the latest of lightweight sensations, young Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Out of this match, if all goes well, will emerge a challenger acceptable to Champion Barney Ross. Barney is under suspension in this state for refusing to defend his title against Ambers but all undoubtedly will be forgiven if he agrees to meet the winner some time during the summer, either here or in Chicago.

Despite the big edge Fuller will have in experience and hitting power, the Boston veteran is no better than an even money proposition against Ambers. The Herkimer youngster, beaten only once in 45 professional bouts, impressed the experts with his speed when he defeated Harry Dubinsky, a tough customer, in his only previous appearance in the Garden ring.

The bout, in a sense, will determine the rating ability of the New York state and Illinois Athletic Commissions. Ambers is recognized by the New York solons as Ross's No. 1 challenger. The Illinois Commission puts Fuller in that rank.

Conditions Improved, Campbell May Try For Record In A Few Days

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP).—Wind and water finally have switched to the side of Sir Malcolm Campbell, and there was every indication today the British speed king would be able to point the nose of his giant bluebird at her own 272-108 mile an hour record, and tread his foot to the floor by the week-end.

There was even a slight possibility that Sir Malcolm, eager and keen now that the long wait is almost over, might make a test run today after "Wild Bill" Cummings, Indianapolis champion last year, takes his Diesel car out on the beach for a shot at the 125 mile an hour record for that type motor set here almost two weeks ago by Dave Evans, another race track pilot.

The beach was not ready today for any more than a leisurely spin at say 175 miles an hour. Campbell admitted last night after he rode up and down the 1 1/2 mile strand at low tide in his private car. Low tide is 10:30 a. m. today.

"It's definitely better, though, and it's a great relief to see it coming around," he said as he came in swathed in heavy clothes, a muffler around his neck, puffing from the chill sweeping the countryside. "The last high tide hasn't improved the beach much over the past 12 hours, but the wind is still blowing in from the northeast, the waves are running high, and I think it's only a matter of a few days now."

Grand Forks, N. D.—Babe Daniels, 155, Duluth, Minn., outpointed Kid Rippitoe, 140, Fargo, N. D., (6); Louis (Kid) Pettig, 190, Grand Forks, outpointed Stanley Dorgan, 178, Duluth, (6).

Comforter Teams Divide Twin Bill

Last night at Woodstock, the Comforter Missions dropped a close decision to the Woodstock team, 23-20. The Missions led until half time, when the score was noted at 11 all, but the Artists managed to find the hoop more often in the second period. In the preliminary, the Comforter girls trimmed the Woodstock Lassies, 15-12, with Jean Kennedy leading the scorers with 8 points.

RANGE FINDERS DEFEAT BAPTISTS AT DARTBALL

Last night at the new armory, Captain Preston's Range Finders defeated the Albany Avenue Baptist Church at dartball by two games to one. This evens the series up for the teams.

Tonight the Range Finders will take on the First Dutchers from Ellenville.

Babe Ruth Tendered A Dinner In Boston

Boston, March 1 (AP).—The job of managing the Boston Braves is Babe Ruth's when and if he shows he can handle it.

That was what the Babe heard from Charles F. Adams, first vice-president and controlling stockholder of the Braves, at a dinner last night at which the homerun king was welcomed back to Boston.

Adams made it clear the Babe would not outrank Bill McKechnie, present manager of the tribe, for he said if Ruth succeeds to the management McKechnie will become an executive of the club "with full power to represent the interests I control."

Ruth's arrival in Boston was the signal for a demonstration rivaling those on the last appearances here of President Roosevelt and Al Smith. The dinner that followed was attended by sports writers and the hundreds of the National League club's minority stockholders.

"Bill McKechnie was frank, honest and correct when he said there can only be one boss," Adams said. "Any of us that know anything about successful organizations realize how sound is such a statement."

"I certainly hope that the Babe realizes his ambition and that he will merit the position he has so much desired."

"He must learn to be a good soldier, if he is not one already. He must by his own example create loyalty and respect within and without the club. This having been established, there is little doubt that the Babe will merit the best the club has to offer."

"Now about Bill McKechnie. That there be no misunderstanding, he too, if the Babe can successfully fill his shoes, will be promoted and like the Babe, too, I believe, will experience that the higher up you go, the tougher the job, the more responsibility, consequently, the more worry and sleepless nights."

P.G.A. Championship Will Admit 64 Players

New York, March 1 (AP).—The professional's championship—one of golf's longest and toughest grinds—will admit 64 players instead of the customary 32 to match play this year. The first two rounds of man-to-man conflict will be reduced from 36 to 18 holes.

These changes were announced today by George R. Jacobus, president of the Professional Golfers' Association. By increasing the number of qualifiers the P. G. A. hopes to make the grade easier for veterans like Walter Hagen to gain the match play.

Far in the background, too, there is the remote prospect that the members of the invading British Ryder Cup team, who will play an American group late in September at the Ridgewood (N. J.) Country Club, will stay for the professional championship.

New York, March 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Eagles, beaten last night, no longer have even a mathematical chance of a playoff in the International Division of the National Hockey League, but the Detroit Red Wings staved off a similar fate in the American section with a victory.

The Eagles took a 4-2 beating from the Montreal Canadians, third-place club of the International group. If they win their five remaining games, they can collect only 34 points for the season, while the victory gave the habitants a total of 37. Detroit, who played the third-place Chicago Blackhawks 5 to 1, scores three goals while Howie Moren was serving a major penalty for cutting Scotty Bowman while handing out a body check.

The speedy Montreal Maroons trimmed the New York Rangers 5 to 2. That left the Rangers and Boston tied for the lead and Chicago a point behind, but the Bruins have eight games to go against seven for their rivals.

March Dropped in

It is Hoped That Old Saying That It Will Go Out Like a Lion Is Just Another of Those Sayings—Was 7 Degrees Warmer Than Thursday Morning.
March came in like a lamb this morning, and Kingston residents are hoping that the old saying that it will then go out like a lion is just another of those sayings. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer at the city hall recorded 15 degrees above zero, which was 7 degrees warmer than Thursday morning, when a recording of 8 degrees above was reported.
The temperature at midnight was 22 degrees above zero, and it grew somewhat colder between then and 8 o'clock this morning.
When residents awoke this morning it was to find the sun shining and indications pointing to a clear day with sunshiny skies and warmer temperature prevailing.

No clinkers to rob you of steady heat

Improved coal, Black Stork, is Clinker-Free. Thus it burns steadily and evenly—burns for hours without attention. Fires are easier to control.

IF your furnace fire seems to be going along fine, then all of a sudden your house gets cold, the cause can be non-burning clinkers. For good coal like Black Stork will burn steadily for hours without attention—give even heat. Coal that contains clinkers causes sluggish fires.
Ask for Black Stork by name—then you know you are getting pure coal—coal that gives less ash, more heat.

—for that better taste and fragrant aroma

Turkish tobacco leaf is so tiny that each of these bales contains from 70 to 80 thousand leaves. But there's another and greater difference—Turkish is the most spicy and aromatic tobacco in the world.

We have Chesterfield buyers in all the tobacco markets of Turkey and Greece, including Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun.

And when you blend and cross-blend aromatic Turkish tobacco with mild ripe home-grown tobaccos as we do in Chesterfield

—you have a milder cigarette, a better-tasting cigarette.
